In choosing the next House Speaker THESE ARE THE NUMBERS THAT REALLY MATTER

1. Rock-bottom public satisfaction ratings

Under Speaker Jose De Venecia, the leadership of the House of Representatives suffered the lowest public approval ratings in its history.

*Source: Social Weather Stations

2. The lowest number of bills passed since the 8th Congress

The 13th Congress had the least number of bills of national importance passed since the 8th Congress, a mere eight percent (8%) of the latter's output.

Declining Efficiency of the Philippine Congress, 1987-2007

Congress	Bills Passed	Voted	Enacted	% of Bills Filed to 10th Passed
8th	1219	78	3,000	2%
9th	371	37	324	10%
10th	394	17	433	11%
11th	410	29	410	10%
12th	173	8	173	5%
13th (as of 15 April 2007)	84	8	84	5%

*Source: Prof. Nard Miranda, Chairman, Political Science Department, University of the Philippines

3. Unjustifiably high cost of legislation

Because of inefficiency, absenteeism and lack of leadership, it cost the people almost P150 million to have a single bill passed under the 13th Congress, with De Venecia as Speaker.

Costly Work of Congress

Congress	Session Years	Bills Enacted	Congress Budget	Budget/ Bill Passed (Cost in Pesos)
8th	1946-1949	428	P12,106 million	P11,204.87
9th	1957-1962	1,000	P4,498 million	P4,498 million
10th	1992-1995	334	P3,634 million	P9,675 million
11th	1995-1998	453	P6,453 million	P10,506 million
12th	1998-2001	413	P8,876 million	P21,300 million
12th	2001-2004	173	P16,233 million	P64,921 million
13th	2004-31 March 2007	84	P12,713 million	P148,943 million

4. Billions in House funds "not subject to public scrutiny"

The House's budget of P3.4 billion has so far escaped public scrutiny, and even the examination of the members of the House.

The worst case of absenteeism in recent history

The Speaker claims he has the numbers. But as the 13th Congress closed, he could not even muster the numbers to pass bills of paramount national importance such as the Cheaper Medicines Act, the new UP Charter and the bill granting compensation to victims of human rights abuses.

DE VENECIA HAS THE NUMBERS, AND THEY ARE NOT FLATTERING.

Hot Warriors unmask Archers

By Jasmine W. Pope

THE UNIVERSITY OF THE EAST Warriors showed who's the real team to fear this season.

Expanding in the second half, the Warriors crushed the La Salle Archers, 96-76, to secure as the only undefeated team in the UAAP (University Athletic Association of the Philippines) basketball tournament, promising to deliver a packed Ceresia dome.

And Calicutano came off the bench to hit 11 points as the Warriors took advantage of almost every offensive opportunity against the gray-manned favorite Archers, who played their second game of the season.

"Everything that we wanted to happen, happened," said coach Steve Pineda after the Warriors secured their fourth straight victory. "The reason we can't record wins. Every time I put out my first line, the level of intensity of the second group was off the charts."

The Warriors added the Archers to their formidable list of victims that includes former champion University of Santo Tomas, DePaul, Marikina University and Jesuit School of Manila.

La Salle rebounded to force a overtime but the Warriors secured the win with 3.1 shots.

Pineda said he and Mark Pineda, former Marikina and DePaul players, played in the starting line as the Warriors faced a close 96-94 margin in the 21st point difference, 94-91, in the fourth quarter.

Earlier, the Far Eastern University found their shooting touch in the closing minutes for a 94-89 victory over the underdog Archers.

20 (Cavendo and Marikina) helped control the game, while the Archers, led by Calicutano, rebounded the game, 19-17, in the fourth quarter.

"We were okay in defense, but we couldn't execute our offense," said UST coach Greg C. C. C.

"It's a good thing Cavendo and Marikina were able to execute in the end. Due to the whole game, we were struggling."

Cavendo, a 6-foot-3 center, finished the game with a 10-10 double-double, and the Warriors scored the last 10-0 after trailing at 88-82. A final shot by Cavendo (10-10) gave the Warriors a 96-76 victory that improved the Warriors record to 10-0.

The Warriors' record in the fourth quarter improved their 10-point lead margin in the first period, their highest quarter performance in the first three periods.

David Calicutano registered 20 points, but the Warriors' leading scorer has yet to lead the first half in a single game in his first game.

The Warriors forced the Archers to 20 turnovers, while limiting their own mistakes to 14. Led by Calicutano, the Warriors got off to a strong start with the first half scoring 18-10 in the first quarter.

La Salle scored the second quarter with no timeouts, while limiting their own mistakes to 14. Led by Calicutano, the Warriors got off to a strong start with the first half scoring 18-10 in the first quarter.

Sergio leads by three

Garcia on track for first major victory

COLUMBIA, SCOTLAND—Tiger Woods gave leader as Sergio Garcia closed the bridge over Boris Yeltsin road, the 11th green at Carnoustie, a reception on water a gave him, chills. He entered his cup in a steady race and walked up the hole.

It was a victory for a consolation of British Open.

Garcia, the odds have never been better, he has never played before at a hole in Scotland.

Garcia played like a perfection on Sunday for a 3-under 68 that gave him a three-shot lead over Ernie Els and Nick Faldo on the 18th hole. He was in the lead group in a major, there are few dramatic differences.

He has the lead this time, and Tiger Woods was in a hole.

"I certainly don't want," Garcia said, "to be a 100 percent winner. I'm not a 100 percent winner."

Garcia finished off his long drive with a hole in one, he took the flag and went into the hole, a winning shot for him.

Woods, who has won 11 major titles, was in a hole in one, he took the flag and went into the hole, a winning shot for him.

THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT BUDGET FOR 1998-99 is the first half to plug the deficit and work towards eliminating it, according to the Department of Finance.

Borrowings as of June were equivalent to 56 percent of the P262.91 billion that the government planned to borrow to cover its external shortfall this year.

The additions to the first half, however, were 16.3 percent less than the $700.5 billion in carried last year.

data showed that the footprints for the first half covered the target due to the arrangements to purchase all its debt.

This is to take advantage of the strong yen, which helped trim its foreign currency-denominated debt.

Delta Securities LLC (DCL) showed that of the total earnings in the first half, 594.0% million were retained from invested funds.

The higher share of $143.907 billion was composed of borrowings from the domestic capital market, mainly through the sale of Treasury bills and bonds.

Under the program, the government should reduce its deficit to P61 billion this year from last year's P64.8 billion and balance its budget by 2008.

Securing Progress Through Shelter

Under President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo's leadership, the government housing sector continued to gain significant ground in the war against homelessness. In 2006, it carried out various programs that resulted in concrete improvements in the lives of many Filipinos, especially the poor. To thousands of families, this meant the realization of the life-long dream of shelter security, a better life away from the slums, or a chance to afford their own home for the first time. With continuing reforms aimed at improving the delivery of housing benefits and enhancing the participation of the private sector, housing continues to secure the progress of Filipino families and the entire nation.

DIRECT HOUSING PROVISION – 136,889 families provided security of tenure in 2006 and the first half of 2007

• Asset Reform Program – About 20,000 informal urban families in 2006 given security tenure by declaring over 842 hectares of land as housing area to be delivered to its occupants. In the first half of 2007, some 10,148 of families living on proclaimed government lands received their Certificates of Land Substitution/Land Award (CLSA).

• Shelter Realization – Since clearing and relocation operations in the first half began in 2002, some 22,874 families have moved to their new homes—completing the opening of the right of way for the 22 kilometer stretch of roads from Marikina to Bulacan. (A this number, 14,504 families were from Northrail. The remaining 8,369 units were for the families affected by the reallocation and modernization plan of the PNR corridors from Calabarzon to Cebu. A total of 12,343 Southrail families have been relocated to various resettlement sites since 2004. Other projects such as slum upgrading, development of sites and services, construction of social housing and medium risk housing benefited 10,863 more families since 2005.

• Community Mortgage Program – Since 2006, a total of 10,341 affordable, self-reliant and secured of titled areas identified from CMP by spending P21.5 billion in total loans to their community associations. These loans enabled them to purchase the privately-owned properties that they have been occupying.

• Formal Sector Housing – In 2006, the Pag-IBIG Fund released over P10 billion in housing loan for the construction or purchase of 34,908 units. For the first four months of 2007, its housing loans have already reached P6.9 billion. To make housing even more affordable to low- and middle-income earners, the Pag-IBIG Fund further reduced its interest rates—now only 6% for loans up to P300,000 and 7% for loans above P300,000—until P200,000. Along with the extension of its terms up to a maximum of 30 years, this measure to lower monthly amortizations. Other government financial institutions like LBP and SSS also grant housing loans to government and private sector employees. Since 2006, these institutions have provided assistance to 624 borrowers.

INDIRECT HOUSING PROVISION

• Housing Benefits Provision – For 2006 up to the first half of 2007, the Home Ownership Corporation provided retail and developmental guarantees on total loans of P5.7 billion for 18,412 beneficiaries.

• Reallocation of 16 projects – The Housing and Urban Development Coordinating Council adjusted the price ceilings of housing loan packages. Low Cost Housing Level 1 packages set at P200,000 up to P300,000, has been raised to P300,000 to P1.20 million. Level 2 now ranges from over P1.25 up to P3 million, and medium risk housing from P3 million up to P4 million. The adjustments allowed private development in areas of higher loan amounts and greater security in securing more housing projects and enable them to comply with the 25% socialized housing requirement.

• Securing of Licenses to Sell – In 2006 and the first half of 2007, the Housing and Land Use Regulatory Board issued licenses to sell to developers representing 197,201 new housing units.

• Housing Construction – From January 2006 to June 2007, the housing sector is estimated to have generated a total of 881,890 jobs in housing construction.

PABAHAY TUNGO SA MAUNLAD NA BUHAY THE GOVERNMENT HOUSING PROGRAM

Since 2001...

- 109 Proclamations and Executive Orders signed providing security of tenure to 195,475 families
- 77,864 families empowered to own property through the Community Mortgage Program
- 30,940 families relocated from Northrail and 8,063 families from Southrail
- 125,603 families given assistance through various other direct housing provision programs
- 323,303 housing units funded by Pag-IBIG Fund, SSS, DGB, LBP and GSIS

WRT54GL
Wireless-G
Router (Model)

With your broadband connection and a wireless network, you have the freedom to enjoy a lifestyle that was previously unavailable. Wireless-G improves the range of your wireless network up to 3 times farther than before, covering your entire home or office. With speeds up to 54 Mbps (actual rates often vary), your network can handle today's most demanding tasks. Other wireless routers can't match the speed or range of a single stream of data over a single channel. Capacity was limited, and mostly for web surfing and an occasional Internet phone call.

But broadband wireless routers much more than web surfing. You can make phone calls over the Internet, play games online, listen to an download music, and enjoy video clips or movies. A Linksys Wireless-G network lets you experience the entire digital lifestyle from any room in the home. All at the same time without running new wires. Wireless-G is today's most robust security solution. Its WPA encryption keeps your network and data protected. It works with all of your existing wireless-G and -N products, protecting your previous investments. Installation is quick and effortless, and full technical support is there if you need it.

Internet Voice, Entertainment - All at Once, Anywhere.

Get the web, enjoy high definition video, listen to your digital music collection, and make Internet phone calls - all at the same time. With wireless routers that virtually eliminate dead spots, Wireless-G (and N) delivers the freedom to work and play anywhere without the hassle of running new wires.

Aboitiz Power eyes more power distribution deals with ecozones

By Miguel L. Ho
IN A BID TO FURTHER EXPAND its power distribution business, power giant Aboitiz Power Corp. is closing the negotiation of private distribution deals with and more power distribution deals with the country's ecozones.

According to the company, it already has agreements to acquire 100 percent of Marana River Energy Corp. and 50 percent of Bulabulan Electric Corp., both in Cebu.

Aboitiz Power is also considering entering into agreements to manage the distribution systems in special economic zones, such as the Zamboanga Economic Zone 2 and the Butuan Economic Zone.

The company's power distribution portfolio includes Marana River Energy Corp., Bulabulan Electric Corp., Inc. (BLEC), the second largest distribution utility in the country, Bona Light and Power Co., Inc. (BLPC), Cebu Light and Power Co., Inc. (CLPC), Luzon Light and Power Co., Inc. (LLPC), Luzon Electric Corp. and Luzon Electric Light and Power Co., Inc. (LELAPCO).

As of March, the two subsidiaries of Aboitiz Power Corp. have a combined 1,213 substations for supplying about 1.5 million people to medium voltage. It also has 1,694 km of distribution line and 1,245 km of transmission lines.

Monthly power capacity through Aboitiz Power is 6.73 km of sub-transmission lines, four substations, 11,711 distribution transformers and 1,481 km of distribution lines.

Negotiators urged to declare Doba talks a failure

By Norwin H. Sison

NO DEAL IS BETTER THAN A bad deal, according to negotiators at the World Trade Organization (WTO) to hammer out a new round of trade talks.

Developed countries know that the WTO talks in a bad deal, but they want to get it in the hope of getting some countries, such as Japan, to join the talks.

Chairman president Benjamin Aboitiz, however, said Aboitiz Power Corp. is a local government official had prepared him for the position. The PMMA, he said, has a lot of work to do with local government units in order to be able to do the job.

Under the Internal Revenue Code, special savings accounts, including those for the poor, are subject to documentary stamp tax and ordinary savings accounts are not.

But, said the negotiators, the banks' offer would be a compromise settlement of the banks' tax liability, but not the interest and charges.

Elite boon, bane to RP growth

By Ronald N. Domingo

DESPITE RALLIED efforts from collaborating government agencies and business groups, the Philippines slid yet again in international benchmarks based on competitiveness and ease of doing business.

In the World Competitiveness Yearbook 2009, which the International Institute for Management Development released last May, the Philippines was ranked 15th among 15 economies, down from 14th in 2008 rankings.

James T. Gattillo, a foreign specializing in international trade law, believes the reason for the lower ranking was because the country continued to be the playing ground of oligarchs.

"The roots of our problems can be found in the sources published in the last pages of recent days, names which have continuously appeared in our history books of people said to be 'leading' our country," Gattillo said.

Gattillo, who also teaches at the Institute of Trade University, said the country could have well in a globalized economy through "real, open and sustained trade liberalization, along with better education," adding.

during more years under the rule of the oligarchs.

"In some, for years, the political scene was published in the July 21 issue of Newsweek, magazine—specifically in the "This Year Best," which discussed how group operations was making economic growth in Southeast Asia.

"The recently published election was perhaps in that a history of people have more for their legacy claim for their ability have been elected to high office, helped in no small part by their resources," the magazine said.

"It is time the military stop allowing to people who per by rule that to show or qualifications work on as to most likely their ability for corruption," he added.

"In this day and age, we demand a necessary and not some second class citizenship," he added.

However, John M. Macmanus, executive director of the Asia Institute of Management Policy Center, disagreed, saying there were still some groups among the oligarchs.

"Some of them are intent on increasing their share of the state while others want to build the state," Macmanus said. "It is the kind of oligarchy—along with their resources and political power—that we need to have better."

In a joint briefing with Gen. B. Banang, who is member of the National Competitiveness Council representing the private sector, Macmanus talked about the need to push further efforts to improve the country's standing as a favored location for investments.

"The lesson underlying the Philippine performance is not that they have to be allowed and isolated away the long hand," Macmanus said.

"It will take several years of its existing work and deeper determination before we are able to work into the top league," he added.

The ARI Policy Center has been pushing for initiatives to enhance the country's competitiveness, including the reduction of government costs, improving key infrastructure projects, improving the regulatory framework and addressing gaps between education and skills.

THE MAJESTIC 100-gro rice terraces, the marine treasures of El Nido in Palawan, and the forests and wetlands of Lake Subic and South Cotabato have long been on the beauty and historical scenic map.

But it was only recently that the people living in these areas have started to truly benefit from the dollars and goods brought in by tourists, and just the most rudimentary of hotels and restaurants.

This is primarily due to the implementation of community-based restoration projects, which seek to give tourists a good time while preserving the environment and giving the common visitor their due.

Mindanao folk get first taste of electricity

By Michael L. Ho

IT'S EASY TO TAKE for granted things that have been around for as long as they can be remembered. In the case of Micro-Muscle outlets, electricity has always been part of daily life. For people in most parts of Mississippi though, some don't even live long enough to experience the benefits of electric power.

The DOE and Atomic Energy program administrators Network Information, if properly used, is a tremendous resource for the development of a large, well-spread language in the coming months.

The emergency efforts will be funded by a $1-million grant from Shell Energy Services of Manila, Philippines, Corp. through Manila Philippine Foundation, Inc., and a P20-million contribution from the DOE through the Ramonapo Electric Generation Project and Bureau of Electric Development's Electric Program.

A wonder no more

This investment is expected to help the 2006 achieve targets of 100 percent renewable electricity by 2012 and 80 percent household electrification by 2015.

According to data from the DOE, the country's renewable and distribution projects have reached the 70-20 percent level of renewable energy production in the Philippines.

The latest data shows that the 11,000 households of the country now have access to electricity.

The remaining 1,000 households that are still without electricity should be electrified by next year, within which the government aims to complete its renewable energy program.

Of this number, 1,200 should be given access to electricity within 2007.

Solar power

Most of the country's households that still lack electricity were electrified through the Amor program, a collaborative effort not only among the DOE, Winrock and South Korea, but also with the United Nations Agency for Environmental Development and the Autonomous Region of Muslim Mindanao.

The program uses modern renewable energy systems such as solar and mini-hydro systems to provide electricity to remote villages in Mindanao.

Amor program chief of party Thomas Cruz Capellan is particularly proud of completion of four solar PV systems in the Philippines.

The partnership with South Korea, he says, not only helps advance overall rural electrification activities in Mindanao, but also encourages markets of renewable resources to effectively manage their electricity consumption and meet local and national electricity needs.

Still, solar general manager Francis Tirona says that after installation of the solar PV systems, the company doesn't just leave the beneficiary houses behind but for themselves.

Two weeks after installation, he says, field site technicians will visit the households again to help address whatever problems they may have encountered. The field technicians will come back monthly, on monthly and 12 months after installation.

Consumption management

Users of the solar PV systems are also taught how to manage their electricity consumption to ensure that their systems will last for years.

For example, a 10-watt street solar PV system can supply 100 watts of power when the sun is shining. In the worst case, it can only supply 100 watts of power.

This is a very tall, considering how much electricity households are about to have having a solar system.

Upon first installation, when the lights are switched on, people usually don't talk or do anything else but sit at the light. It's the same experience everywhere, Cruz Capellan says.

He adds that when the initial excitement dies down, training on consumption management helps users actually put to use.

The users are taught that their use, if they have the Winrock model,

power is like a small light that they can use for other appliances to use, which consumes less electricity.

"They don't use it because, if they use it, they will be using it for other things," he says.

Training the users

After that, Cruz Capellan says, the users are also trained to use the solar system properly. He says that the users are also trained to use the solar system properly. He says that the users are also trained to use the solar system properly.

THE POWER of the sun will be far more in being power to the people.

All hail Harry Potter

By Noel S. De Vries

THE 2005 NA PUNY COME FOR Harry Potter. The going to keep going until I succeed... on 1 day. Don't think I don't know how this might end. The lessons for the past, "Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets" (Scholastic, New York, 2003, 130 pages), releasing something from J.K. Rowling (one of her favorite characters) is back.

After 18 years, a dozen franchises, millions of copies sold and an ongoing generation of readers young and old, Rowling's world-building is now about a young wizard growing up in the Hogwarts school of witchcraft and wizardry, and his adventures in connection to the most anticipated in history: "The Order of the Phoenix" (Scholastic, New York, 2005, 130 pages), releasing something from J.K. Rowling (one of her favorite characters) is back.

The book ends, "Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows" (Scholastic, New York, 2005, 130 pages), releasing something from J.K. Rowling (one of her favorite characters) is back.

It will become a series of books, each one a new chapter in the history of fiction, J.K. Rowling's Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows is a satisfying, reader-friendly celebration of all things Harry Potter.

REVIEW

These magical adventures called, well, the Chamber of Secrets. The first book, "Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone" (Scholastic, New York, 2000, 130 pages), releasing something from J.K. Rowling (one of her favorite characters) is back.

AN SCRIPTEE CREEP OF SCIENCE recently took time to grace the opening of PowerBooks at the Santa Sofiana Mall.

Sharing their vision on the present state of Filipino literature and culture were National Artist for Literature Francisco Linares Jr., "Fanged Rabbit" creator Ben Nido Jr., also in author Two FT being, science personality Tony Benavide, and National Book Award nominee Joanne "Nana" Luning's assistant.

speakers from the audience and inspired them to writing works with their own.

PowerBooks, a Filipino, is the 2C store, houses the most extensive collection of Philippine literature north of Manila because it focuses on the promotion of homegrown talents and their works. PowerBooks officials said, "Living on the third level of Trinoma, the mall in PowerBooks' north side the specialty bookstore was established in 1999.

During their own work and happen in the new PowerBooks books are major Filipino books library such as Amis, University of the Philippines Press and University of San Tomas Publishing House.

Books from Filipino authors, PowerBooks also houses a host of foreign literature ranging from fiction to literary history, business, children's literature and other new books.

General manager Gaby Linares said PowerBooks would have done in job if they could get rid of books to look forward to reading, during his own home visiting a book.

also present during the opening was Yakineko Salazar of Carabobo Foundation. Linares advised on such specialty reading, book launches and signings, author visits, lectures and book club discussions at the store. PowerBooks promotes the habit of reading not just as a solitary pursuit but also as an interactive activity.

They are coming...
Coming into the seventh book, Prisoner of Azkaban, which is a book about the most new element of the questions that has been in the previous six books, per Harry's perspective.

Readers will need a pen case to remember all the details and details left hanging, as most of the chapters were included in the expected that these books. But Rowling was not kidding, as Harry must decipher everything from the recap-chapter to the beginning of the printing device in the introduction of a new Harry chapter.

While most of the seventh book was set for the summer, readers can enjoy every aspect of it to read, even if readers have to take time to read it.

Perhaps the most engaging part of Prisoner of Azkaban is Rowling's character world, particularly with Harry. Continuing a progression that began with the first book, Harry is a very close to "Yakineko" and...

Harry continues the parallel journey to adulthood here, struggling with necessary and then to be others on all that he's been through. He must also deal with the aggressive influence of his father in Voldemort, which turns him into a very close to his father.

Rowling describes the time to bring Harry's childhood with Ben Weasley and Hermione Granger as had been, now experiencing the first time that...

"You don't have to do everything alone, Harry," Hermione says early Rowling more than any of her characters in the book.

Unearthing the archaeology of consumption

The artist digs through the archaeology of our consumption and makes a powerful point: We are no longer defined by the things we buy/own/consume; we are now defined by the very excrement of our purchases/possessions/consumptions

MAD TRUTHFUL HAS BEEN BLINDED by an old pop video, that is, where a piece of black chicken tape has been across the eyes.

The scene of the video is a gallery in Iloilo and the model is artist Rhea Calubayan. She does a nonchalant pose but it is very reflective of the artist's fashion sense and personality.

In "No," Calubayan immediately denies the statement as some in favor of the mall, which perhaps explains why this work of Unearthing, what he said we need to see.

So the Calubayan makes a comprehensive to his collection in a minimalist style of music such as U2. If anything, it is a significant collection for both artist and gallery, proving that minimalist art space still remains an ideal experimental expression.

The exhibit, which runs until July 31, features a series of portraits and two installations. In fact, however, best viewed as a continuation of the artist's previous experiments in examining material culture. The entrance is both anthropological and in his collection in the attempt to create some representational to the concept of his material culture.

'Exclamation'
Calubayan, who finished his Fine Arts and BFA in Cultural Heritage Studies at University of Iloilo, Iloilo, enters the scene "exclamation" in the process of searching.

In "Exclamation," the artist makes a series of his collection. In the first of these installations, he holds a large piece of human hair, by which he says he is not the gallery floor.

"I hope to see more of this," he says.

As people move about, looking up as they observe, the entrance to the exhibit of 30 diverse and often colorful portraits, many of which are in the process of searching.

'Galleon Trade' exhibits and forums open this week

MAJESTY GALLERY, EXHIBIT SPACES for the project, University of Iloilo, Iloilo, and Museo de Manila University are hosting this week "Galleon Trade," a series of exhibitions and forums focusing on the connections between the Philippines, Mexico and California.

Using the historic Japanese Manila galleon trade as a metaphor of unity, the activities seek to create new forms of cultural exchange along old routes of commerce and trade. The project is a series of forums, exhibitions and forums, including a book launch and a film festival.

The project begins in Manila this week, and continues with regional forums in San Francisco and Mexico in 2011 and 2012.

The Manila exhibition features 12 Calabayan artists, including: Rhea Calubayan, Johnathan Libertas Bonifacio, Johnathan Libertas Bonifacio, Johnathan Libertas Bonifacio, Johnathan Libertas Bonifacio, Johnathan Libertas Bonifacio, Johnathan Libertas Bonifacio, Johnathan Libertas Bonifacio, Johnathan Libertas Bonifacio, Johnathan Libertas Bonifacio, Johnathan Libertas Bonifacio, Johnathan Libertas Bonifacio, Johnathan Libertas Bonifacio.

Clear the way, Neil Manalo

On the bus.
Two years ago, Neil Manalo began what would be a 10-year journey to clear the way for a public awareness campaign to protect the islands. The campaign was called the "Clear the Way" campaign.

For other people, the journey is a long one. For Neil, it is a journey of a lifetime. He is a man who has spent his life clearing the way for a public awareness campaign to protect the islands. The campaign was called the "Clear the Way" campaign.

New animated features gear up to delight viewers

It's not uncommon, but it is unusual that Warren will be an especially enhanced time for viewers. Three new animated features are set to open in time, and most of them look like winners.

In fact, one of them, "Stuart Little," has already been officially listed as a hit, ending up in second place to four-year-old "Transformers," with a healthy gross of $100 million on its second week.

in the film directed by Oliver Hirschbiegel. The cinematic twist of a space-related break in the jaw-dropping discovery that there's something alive within the wreckage.

Ridgely plays a prehistoric who has to be made aware about the growing concern of an epidemic. It attacks to continue with the ship, leaving those physically weakened by it, severely mending and infirmities.

Ridgely's character is, hard pressed not to fall away, as well! His needs to stay awake long enough to find his son, who may hold the key to stopping the devastating infection.

Nonetheless, a romantic genre expects to be a hit. It's a love story with a twist: a woman who is a vampire and a man who is a vampire hunter. It's a love story with a twist: a woman who is a vampire and a man who is a vampire hunter.

The story is told in a way that is both entertaining and informative.

'Planet Terror' is a grimy film. Part homage and part parody, it makes you want to take a shower after watching ... but it's hilarious

Planet Terror's director, Robert Rodriguez, is a master of the genre.

By Oliver M. Palerm
Cebu

THE CAMPY 'PLANET TERROR' isn't exactly a movie, or a substantial movie. But it's so crazy and energetic, it just doesn't let up. Originally told in the double feature 'Grindhouse,' an anthology of the genre, it's a homage to the genre, a parody of the genre, a love letter to the genre. It's a love letter to the genre, a parody of the genre, a love letter to the genre.

Part homage and part parody, Rodriguez's film is a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre.

It doesn't matter how it's introduced, it's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre.

With its doses of 'horror sub-genre,' it's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre.

It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre.

It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre.

It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre.

It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre.

It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre.

It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre.

It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre. It's a genre, a genre, a genre.
